Stefano Ronchi

Vice Rector for Education and Learning at the Politecnico di Milano

STEFANO RONCHI
Vice Rector for Education and Learning at the Politecnico di Milano

Stefano Ronchi is a Full Professor of Business Management and Organisation as well as Vice Rector for Education and Learning at the Politecnico di Milano, where he completed both his degree in Management Engineering and his PhD in Management, Economics and Industrial Engineering.

Throughout his career, he has held numerous institutional roles, including President of the Management Engineering degree programme, Rector's Delegate for International Affairs, Chairman of the Steering Committee of ENHANCE, Vice President of Unitech and member of the PoliMI 2040 commission. He is currently member of IPSERA and serves on the Board of Directors of Arcadia.

His research focuses on process and organisational transformation, collaborating with multiple companies and organisations, with over 150 published contributions, including books and international scientific articles.

stefano.ronchi@polimi.it https://www.linkedin.com/in/stefanoronchi74

https://www.x.com/ste_ron